JOBS OF OVER 50,000 STATE GOVT EMPLOYEES ON THE LINE

Jobs were allegedly obtained under 'SC/ST/VJNT/OBC' categories after submission of fake caste certificates by some employees in the last three decades

By Raju Vernekar

The jobs of over 50,000 state government employees, who had allegedly submitted fake caste certificates to secure jobs, are at stake despite Maharashtra Government's fresh GR to accommodate them in "open category" till the time the matter is finally resolved.

Organization for the Rights of Tribals (OFROT)", a division bench comprising Justices Bhushan Gavai and Z A Haq of Nagpur bench of the Bombay High Court has stayed the GR dated June 5, 2018, issued by the state government and has posted the matter for further hearing on July 9, 2018.

The petitioners pointed out that the Supreme Court by its judgements dated July 6, 2017 and April 13, 2018, had already ruled against the decision to allow those who have obtained jobs based on fake caste certificates. The SC had ruled that the jobs of employees who submitted invalid caste certificates could not be protected at any cost and had directed state governments to initiate action against such employees immediately.

In response to a petition filed by "the

MAJOR SEX SCANDAL

Minor boy creates app inviting only men; professor held, more arrests likely

By Zuber Ansari

A professor from a well-known school has been arrested by the Khar police for allegedly sodomising a 16-year-old boy after the case was registered by the victim's mother in the police station.

According to Khar police sources, this is the first arrest in the case, with 18 others also being under the scanner. Shockingly, the boy was inviting people to have sex with him by creating an app on social media in which he clearly stated that he is only interested in men.

Once the information was on the net people started approaching him and later
