

HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO WIN DVDS OF FOOTBALL HISTORY & THE FIFA MUSIC ALBUM !!!

Going Waka Waka

The countdown to the final of the FIFA World Cup championships has begun. After 45 days of world class football, the closing ceremony is another must watch event, for it not only has some live performances by top music artists, but also local talent. And a lot of good music is produced for the FIFA World Cup every four years.

There is good news for our readers. The official FIFA World Cup Album (Rs. 299), produced in India by Sony Music, featuring collaborations between by Sexy Columbian singer singer Shakira and Freshlyground in the hip shaking official song 'Waka Waka', followed by the official anthem - 'Sign of Victory' by R. Kelly and the Soweto Spiritual Singers. Other toppers include 'Viva Africa' (Nneka) and 'Game On' Pitbull, TKZee and Dario G (official Mascot song), is now available here.

Proceeds from the album will benefit FIFA's "20 Centers for 2010", whose aim is to achieve positive social change through football.

If you have had your fill of music, check out some great moments in football in a never before collection of 5 DVDs from Shemaroo Entertainment in a package titled 'History of Football - The Beautiful Game'. In approx. 776 minutes, the 5

DVD pack gives you access to the top line players down the years who made a name for themselves, with each volume offering a blend of narrative, action and interviews - from Lucien Laurent, Pele, Ronaldo, Carlos, Meredith and Mathias Sindelar, Pele, Alfredo di Stefano, Garrincha, Maradona and Zidane. and even Baichung Bhutia.

The 13 episodes focus on origins of the game, formation of the rules for football, Samba boys of Brazil, football cultures, and include Maradona discussing his 'Hand of God' goal that kicked England out the 1986 World Cup.
